They hate the Government of the United States as the Irish Leaguers paster of the church, and Mr. Austin Scott, of hate England, and their hatred can only be overcome by surrendering the government into their hands. Let any who think they can be faithful to an alliance remember their treatment of Stephen A. Douglas. They trampled upon majority role within their own party in order to defeat him. This was not because of any substantial difference of opinion, but because they were incapable of obedience to the compact by which parties exist. They led the South into rebellion because they were not willing to be citizens of a Republic they had not the numbers to control. Restored to the Union, with majorities against them in some States by reason of negro enfranchisement, they which all the rest of the world shuddered while Bourbonism laughed. States thus seized by violent usurpation have been held by coarse and transparent fraud. This is Bourbonism, and to-day it sits on the Nation like a nightmare, equally dividing each House of Congress, and proving to the world that the experiment of a republican form of government is still on trial. If any men of this generation are childish enough to this generation are childish enough to think they can make a coalition with these Bourbon enemies of majority rule and serve in any other capacity than hewers of wood and drawers of water, let them try it. Bradlaugh.

The predictions in these columns regarding the Bradlaugh case in the British House of Commons were verified almost as soon as they were written. Mr. Bradlaugh had no sooner taken the oath and appressively taken his seat in violation of the Speaker's mandate than he was expelled, a new election was ordered for Northampton, and the announcement was made that Mr. Bradlaugh would was made that Mr. Bradlaugh would stand for re-election. Grand Public Meeting.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will hold a meeting this evening at Congregational Church for the purpose of placing be-fore the general public the objects and aims of that society and exhibit in some degree the good it has accomplished. To make the occasion more resting the society has secured the distin-hed Henry Bergh, of New York city, and the Rev. Edward Evereit Hale, of Boston, to make ad-dresses. Hon, George B. Loving, Commissioner of Agriculture, will also deliver an address, and Professor likehoff will preside at the organ. The prizes offered for the best compositions written in the public schools upon the subject of "Kindness to Animals" will be distributed, and if time afto Animais' will be distributed and if time af-fords some of the prize compositions will be read. It is probable that a very full meeting will be held, and as the time is set for it to commence at 720 those who desire good seats will need to go early. Mr. Bergh arrived last evening and will make his home at the Ariington during his visit. This will be his first appearance before the Washington public.

The Post-Office Scandal. The examination of the charges made against an officer of the Sixth Auditor's Office, which was reopened recently by Secretary Folger, has not yet begun. Mr. Webster Eimes, who has charge of the matter, is away from the city. It is said spect Mr. Gladstone is as true to the liberal and progressive principles he professes as he was during our civil war, when he espoused the cause of the rebellion.
